- (10) to fulfill other duties specified in the applicable laws, regulations, rules, listing rules and other requirements of the stock exchange and the Articles of Association.

Article 23 Dire

handling

1. affairs proposed by the directors;
2. affairs proposed by the Supervisory Board;
3. proposals submitted by the special committees under the Board of Directors;
4. affairs proposed by the President; and
5. affairs that shall be decided by the Board of Directors, according to the Articles of Association.

Any material connected transaction and the engagement or removal of the accounting firm shall be approved by more than half of the independent non-executive directors before submission to the Board of Directors for discussion.

Article 29 Collection of Proposals

The Board Secretary is responsible for collecting drafts on the affairs to be discussed in a meeting. Relevant proposals, together with relevant statements, shall be submitted 15 days before the meeting.

After sorting the relevant documents, the Board Secretary shall list the time, venue and agenda of the meeting, and submit the same to the Chairman. The Chairman shall ensure that all directors who will attend the meeting are properly informed of the affairs to be deliberated. The Chairman shall ensure that the directors receive complete, adequate and feasible information in time.

Article 30 Convening of Meetings

The Chairman shall convene a meeting of the Board of Directors, and sign the notice on the convening of the meeting. When the Chairman cannot convene the meeting for special reasons, one Vice Chairman or director shall convene the meeting, who shall also sign and issue the notice on convening the meeting, according to Article 7 herein.

Article 31 Notice of the Meeting

1. A prior notice of a meeting of the Board of Directors shall be distributed to all the directors, all the supervisors and other attendees before the meeting. The notice of the meeting generally includes the following information:

- 1) the time and venue of the meeting;
- 2) period of the meeting;
- 3) agenda, causes, proposals and relevant documents; and
- 4) date of notice;

2. A meeting of the Board of Directors shall be notified according to the requirements and in such manner as following:

- 1) forms of notice: phone, fax and email;
- 2) the notice of a regular meeting of the Board of Directors shall be distributed

10 days in advance, while a special meeting is not subject to the time of notice;

3) the notice shall be made in Chinese and attached with an English translation when necessary.

Any director can waive the right to require the receipt of the notice of a meeting of the Board of Directors. If a director has attended the meeting and has not raised the issue about the failure to receive the notice before he attends the meeting or before the meeting starts, the director shall be deemed to have received the notice of the meeting.

Article 32 Communications before the meeting

The agenda and relevant documents for a regular meeting shall be delivered to all the directors in time, and sent out at least three days (or any other time as agreed upon) before the date of the meeting of the Board of Directors or its special committees. Other meetings of the Board of Directors shall also observe the aforesaid arrangement, when truly feasible. After the sending of the notice of the meeting and before it is convened, the Board Secretary shall be responsible for organizing and arranging the communication and contact with all the directors, in particular the independent non-executive directors, obtaining their opinions or suggestions on relevant proposals, and feedback the same to the persons submitting the proposals in time to improve relevant proposals. The Board Secretary shall also arrange in a timely manner the supplement of the documents required by the directors to make corresponding decisions on the proposals to be discussed, including relevant background information of the proposals and other information that helps the directors make scientific, quick and prudent decisions.

The management has the responsibility to provide adequate timely information for the Board of Directors and its special committees so that the directors can make decisions after analyzing the relevant information. The information provided by the management shall be integral and reliable. The directors shall duly perform their responsibilities as directors, and shall not always depend only on the information actively provided by the management. In some cases, they will need to conduct further inquiry on their own. If any director requires additional information (other than that provided by the management actively) to be provided by the management, the Company shall, on an as-needed basis, conduct further inquiry. The Board of Directors and each director shall have an independent mode of access to the senior executives. In general, the Board Secretary shall be the bridge of communication between the management and the Board of Directors.

When appropriate, the Secretary to the Board of Directors shall be responsible for arranging the directors to seek independent professional opinions when they perform their responsibilities to the Company, the expense so incurred shall be paid by the Company, and relevant requests shall be submitted in writing to the Secretary of the Board of Directors. The Board Secretary shall reasonably seek suitable professionals to provide opinions efficiently.

When more than one quarter of the directors or more than two independent non-executive directors think the materials are inadequate or the demonstration is unclear, they can jointly propose to delay the meeting or some affairs discussed by the Board of Directors, and the Board of Directors shall adopt such proposal. Unless such request is directly brought forward at a meeting of the Board of Directors, the Secretary to the Board of Directors shall distribute in a timely manner a notice to the directors, the supervisors and the non-voting attendees after receipt of such written request.

Article 33 Participation in Meetings

A meeting of the Board of Directors can be held when it is attended by more than half of the directors (including the directors attending the meeting by proxy).

All directors of the Board of Directors shall be present at the meeting in person. If a director is unable to attend for any reason, he can entrust another director in writing to attend on his behalf. (Any independent non-executive director unable to attend the meeting shall consign another independent non-executive director to attend the meeting on his behalf). The power of attorney shall indicate the name of the agent, the affairs under agency, the scope of authorization and the effective period, and shall be signed or stamped by the principal. The director present at the meeting on his behalf shall exercise the director's rights to the extent of authorization.

If a non

After the directors reach an agreement on the agenda, the chairman will preside over the meeting to review the proposals of the meeting one by one, and the persons submitting the proposals shall first report their work or state their proposals to the Board of Directors or consign others to do the same.

When reviewing relevant plans, proposals and reports, a meeting of the Board of the Directors can require the leaders of the responsible departments to attend the meeting as non-voting attendees, hear their opinions and ask relevant questions to correctly make their decisions. Upon finding a proposal or plan contains unclear information or the plan is not feasible, the Board of Directors shall ask the undertaking departments to state the fact, and may return the proposal or plan for rework, while suspending the voting.

Article 35 Voting on proposals

All the directors present at a meeting shall cast affirmative, negative or abstention votes on proposals submitted to the Board of Directors.

The director present at the meeting on behalf of another director shall exercise the principal's rights to the extent of authorization.

If a director fails to attend one meeting of the Board of Directors and consign a representative to do the same, the director shall be deemed to have waived his voting right at such meeting.

When the Board of Directors makes a resolution on an affair, the resolution shall be approved by more than half of the all the directors, except otherwise required by the Articles of Association for the affairs that shall be approved by more than two-thirds of all directors.

Meetings of the Board of Directors can adopt a show of hands or a ballot system to vote. Each director has one voting right. When the negative votes and the affirmative votes are equal, the Chairman shall have the right to cast one more vote.

When a director is related to an enterprise involved in a resolution made by a meeting of the Board of Directors (meaning that the director acts as a director or senior executive in the enterprise, directly or indirectly controls a legal person of the enterprise, or serves as a director or senior executive in a legal person directly or indirectly controlled by the enterprise), the director shall abstain from voting on the resolution or exercising the voting right on behalf of other directors. Such meeting of the Board of Directors can be held when it is attended by more than half of the directors not related to the resolution, and the resolution made at the meeting of the Board of Directors shall be adopted by more than half of the directors not related to the resolution. When attending directors not related to the resolution are less than three, the corresponding affair shall be submitted to the Shareholders' General Meeting for review.

Article 36 Liabilities of Directors to Resolutions of the Board of Directors

Any written resolution of the Board of Directors not made through the legal procedure shall not have the legal effect as a resolution of the Board of Directors, even if every director expresses opinions on the resolution in different approaches. The directors shall undertake the liability for the resolution made by the Board of Directors. If a resolution made by a meeting of the Board of Directors violates the laws, administrative regulations or the Articles of Association and causes the Company to incur a loss, the directors shall undertake the liability for the resolution made by the Board of Directors.

5. voting method and results for each issue resolved (the voting result shall specify the numbers of affirmative, negative or abstention votes); and

6. signatures of the directors.

The Board Secretary shall in earnest record and sort the affairs deliberated at the meetings. The minutes of every meeting of the Board of Directors shall be distributed as soon as possible to all the directors attending the meeting for review. A director hoping to make a revision or supplement to the minutes shall report his revision opinions to the Chairman within one week after receipt of the minutes. After the minutes are finalized, the directors, the Board Secretary and the recorder shall sign the minutes, and the Board Secretary shall send copies of the entire minutes to each director as soon as possible. The minutes of the Board of Directors shall be permanently saved as important archives at the domicile of the Company. When a director sends a notice as is reasonable at any time period, the Board of Directors shall provide the relevant minutes for the director to check the minutes within a reasonable time period.

Chapter 7 Information Disclosure for Meetings of the Board of Directors

Article 39 The Board of Directors of the Company shall strictly comply with relevant provisions concerning information disclosure established by the supervisory authority and the stock exchange in the region where the shares of the Company are listed, and disclose the affairs discussed and resolutions adopted by the meetings of the Board of Directors in an integral, timely and accurate manner. The Board of Directors shall, on the principle of fair information disclosure and in a timely fashion, report the information involving material affairs to relevant stock exchanges, disclose such information in accordance with relevant listing rules, and file the same to relevant supervisory authorities (if applicable).

Article 40 Any person informed of the relevant contents of the meetings of the Board of Directors that required to be kept confidential shall safeguard the confidentiality of such contents, or shall undertake the corresponding liability.
